

¶ We welcome you to St. John's Church. If you are new, please be sure to fill out a visitor card and place it in an offertory plate, and/or sign one of the guest registers in the narthex at the back of the church. We are glad you are here and hope that you will join us for fellowship and refreshments in the undercroft below the nave (general seating area) of the church. If you have questions, please feel free to speak to any parishioner and they will happily provide you with whatever assistance you may require.

Notes on Selected Portions of Today's Music

The Processional Hymn:

This hymn is a paraphrase of Psalm 103 and was first published in Henry Francis Lyte's The Spirit of the Psalms (1834), which contained over 280 new paraphrases of psalms. This is the second of two versions of Psalm 103. Lyte was born in 1793 and was a priest for many years in Lower Brixham, Devon. He died on November 20, 1847; exactly 100 years later, this hymn was chosen as the opening processional for her wedding by HRH Princess Elizabeth (now Queen Elizabeth II). In the original, there were five verses, with verse 4 (corresponding to verses 15–17 of the Psalm) bracketed for omission if desired:

Frail as summer's flower we flourish:
Blows the wind, and it is gone.
But, while mortals rise and perish,
God endures unchanging on.
|| Praise him! Praise him! ||
Praise the high eternal One!

Some hymnals use the refrain "Praise him! Praise him!" (eg, The English Hymnal); others use the refrain "Alleluia! Alleluia!" (eg, Hymns Ancient & Modern, The Hymnal 1940). In the original Hymns Ancient & Modern Standard, verse 4 was changed because the editors were unhappy with the notion of the sun and moon bowing down before him:

Angels, in the height adore him;
Ye behold him face to face;
Saints triumphant, bow before him,
Gather'd in from every race.

Tune – Lauda anima

Sir John Goss (1800–80) composed Lauda anima [Praise, my soul] for this hymn. It first appeared in The Supplemental Hymn and Tune Book, compiled by Rev. Robert Brown-Borthwick (3rd edition, 1869). Trained as one of the children of the Chapel Royal, he succeeded Attwood as organist of St Paul's Cathedral in 1838. The tune originally appeared in two versions, the D major form for voices in unison to a varying accompaniment for each verse, and an E major version for four voices. The present setting combines parts from both versions. It is said Goss never started composing without saying a prayer; many works are prefaced by INDA (In nomine Dei [In the name of God], Amen).
