Ten O'clock in the Morning

THE EXTERNAL SOLEMNITY OF CORPUS CHRISTI

The Order for Holy Communion

- A warm welcome to all parishioners, guests, and visitors. Worship at St. John's is according to the 1928 Book of Common Prayer and The Hymnal, 1940. Be sure to ask a neighbor for help if you have any questions about where we are during the service.
 - The ✠ symbol indicates a point in the liturgy where making the sign of the cross is appropriate.
 - Please turn all cell phones, pagers, and wireless communication devices off or to "vibrate."
 - Children are most welcome at St. John's worship services. For those who desire it, during the school year, Sunday School begins at 10:00 AM in the undercroft, where nursery care is also available year-round.
 - Information on worship practices, Communion procedure, announcements, prayer requests, the teaching series, a brief history of St. John's, and various aspects of parish life are available in the Parish Chronicle, which is inserted in this bulletin.

The Collect of the Day

GOD our Father, whose Son our Lord Jesus Christ in a wonderful Sacrament hath left unto us a memorial of his passion: grant us so to venerate the sacred mysteries of his Body and Blood, that we may ever perceive within ourselves the fruit of his redemption; who liveth and reigneth with thee and the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

The Epistle: 1 Corinthians xi. 23.

FOR I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, That the Lord Jesus the same night in which he was betrayed took bread: And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do shew the Lord's death till he come. Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord. But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup. For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body.

Hymnal

Prayer Book

¶ After the reading of the Epistle, the People shall remain seated, and the Choir shall chant

The Psalm: 116:11–16. Quid retribuam Domino. – ANGLICAN CHANT: J. Robinson p. 487

¶ Then shall the People stand, and the Choir continue with

The Gradual: Oculi ómnium, Psalm 145:15, 16 – Plainchant

THE eyes of all wait upon thee, O LORD: and thou givest them their meat in due season. V. Thou openest thine hand: and fillest all things living with plenteousness.

The Alleluia: Cáro méa vere, St. John 6:56, 57 – Plainchant

ALLELUIA. Alleluia. V. My flesh is meat indeed, and my Blood is drink indeed: he that eateth my Flesh and drinketh my Blood, dwelleth in me and I in him. Alleluia.

The Gospel: St. John vi. 55.

JESUS said to the multitude of the Jews: my flesh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed. He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him. As the living Father hath sent me, and I live by the Father: so he that eateth me, even he shall live by me. This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth of this bread shall live for ever.

The Offertory: Sacerdótes Dómini, Leviticus 21:6 – Plainchant

THE priests of the LORD do offer the offerings of the LORD, made by fire and the bread of their God: therefore they shall be holy unto their God, and not profane the Name of their God, alleluia.

The Offertory Anthem: Ave verum corpus – William Byrd

Ave verum Corpus, natum de Maria Virgine:	All hail, O true Body, of the blessed Virgin born,
Vere passum, immolatum in cruce pro homine:	Which in anguish to redeem us did'st suffer upon the cross;
Cujus latus perforatum	From whose side, when pierced by spear,
unda fluxit sanguine:	there came forth both water and blood:
Esto nobis praegustatum in mortis examine.	Be to us at our last hour the source of consolation.
O dulcis, O pie, O Jesu Fili Mariae,	O loving, O holy, O Jesu, thou Son of Mary,
Miserere mei. Amen.	Have mercy on me. Amen.

¶ We welcome you to St. John's Church. If you are new, please be sure to fill out a visitor card and place it in an offertory plate, and/or sign one of the guest registers in the Narthex at the back of the church. We hope that you will join us for fellowship and refreshments in the Undercroft below the Nave (general seating area) of the church. If you have questions, please feel free to speak to any parishioner and they will happily provide you with whatever assistance you may require.

Notes on Selected Portions of Today's Music

The Offertory Anthem:

William Byrd (1543–1623) towers above all other English composers of his time; in fact he ranks as one of the greatest English composers of all time. Reputedly a pupil of Thomas Tallis, his first appointment, in 1563, was as organist and Master of the Choristers at Lincoln Cathedral. In 1570 he moved to London to become a Gentleman of the Chapel Royal; he quickly gained royal favour and in 1575 was granted, in partnership with Tallis, a monopoly in music printing which enabled both composers to publish their own work. In 1593 he acquired a country house in Essex and progressively withdrew from London life; after the death of Queen Elizabeth in 1603 he is unlikely to have been much involved with the Chapel Royal. Throughout his life he composed prolifically: several volumes of Latin and English church music, three Masses, besides many songs, keyboard pieces and other instrumental music. Despite the Reformation, Byrd never inwardly forsook the Catholic faith, and perhaps the most remarkable aspect of his career is the freedom with which he continued to write and publish Latin church music long after the liturgy for which it was intended had been outlawed by the Act of Uniformity, which imposed the 1594 Book of Common Prayer; possibly the personal favour of Queen Elizabeth saved him from the harsh penalties meted out to recusants at that time. No one knows why Byrd's Latin church music was published: was it a symbol of defiance, or was it meant for the use of Catholics on the continent, or indeed in England, where secret masses were celebrated by groups of recusants in their homes? Most likely it was a musical and religious testament that its composer perhaps hoped would one day adorn Catholic worship if it should ever return in England.

One of the most familiar and treasured examples of Byrd's church music, Ave verum corpus was included in the Gradualia of 1605, a published collection of his Latin motets. The music breathes an air of personal devotion; at the end of the piece Byrd adds 'miserere mei' (have mercy on me) to the official text, setting this heartfelt plea to music of special expressiveness.
